Date: January 28, 2016
Subject: Expiration for Decon Labs' products

The following products have no expiration date, due to their stability. If an expiration date is mandatory, for laboratory certification purposes, as a non-binding recommendation, Decon recommends an expiration date of two years after the manufacturing date. However, using these products past that date should not affect their performance.

Please feel free to contact me at Decon Labs if you require additional information.
